

Mt. Hakodate.

The second edition of Michelin Green Guide Japan introduced the view from Mt. Hakodate as three stars.

What is Michelin Green Guide Japan?

Michelin Green Guide Japan is a travel guide published by Michelin that evaluates the attractiveness of tourist spots around Japan based on a system of one, two and three stars. The French language second edition was published in May 13, 2011.

◆ The view from Mt. Hakodate was introduced as three stars!

An evaluation in Michelin Green Guide is based on nine unique criteria, and tourist spots are awarded zero to three stars based on suitability for tourists. The second edition of Michelin Green Guide Japan introduced the view from Mt. Hakodate as three stars, meaning it is "worth the trip."

◆ Hakodate, the tourist city with great nature and attractive culture!

Many other tourist spots of Hakodate are listed in Michelin Green Guide Japan. The Old Public Hall of Hakodate Ward, the hills near Motomachi and Goryokaku were all introduced as two stars.

In addition, the entire city of Hakodate, the Takadaya Kahei Museum, the Hakodate Foreign General Cemetery, Koryuji Temple, the churches near Daisan-zaka slope and other attractions were also introduced as one star.

Please come and experience the tourist city Hakodate, which has lush nature and attractive culture.
